

THE GAZETTE.

MONDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 21.

A CRIMINAL.—Ryland K. Shuck is the son of an eminent missionary who was stationed for some years at one of the Baptist missions in China, where Ryland K. was born. His mother was a woman of exemplary character and great piety, and distinguished herself as the author of a religious work of acknowledged merit. Shuck is a handsome young man, of medium size, and very gentle person. He is highly cultivated and accomplished, and naturally of a quick turn of mind. He has been tried and punished for various crimes, escaped punishment for others, and is now in jail in Louisville charged with the robbery of a man named Osborn, in broad daylight, near the Nashville depot, on September 27th.—Rich. Dis.

DESIRE TO STEAL.—The New Albany (Ind.) Commercial, October 10th, says: In the divorce case of Banks vs. Banks, Judge Jewett yesterday granted the plaintiff a divorce. The complainant in this case alleged that his wife was guilty of kleptomaniac—an irresistible desire to steal. This allegation was subsequently abandoned, and the plaintiff relied upon mentioning the several instances of stealing. We believe that an application for divorce by the same party was refused by Judge Bicknell in the Circuit Court. We are inclined to think that the courts have heretofore hesitated to dignify kleptomaniac, or being a sufficient ground for divorce, it was not alleged in this that the wife has been convicted of the crimes charged.
